AT WAYNESBORO

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Waynesboro, Va., August 19.—Brunswick Inn guests during the week just passed enjoyed to the utmost the brief visit of Polk Miller and Colonel Thomas Booker, who made the Inn their headquarters. The spirit of the Old South prevailed, and Monday morning an old-time dance was held in the ball room. Here, with Colonel Booker playing his banjo and Mr. Miller "calling figures," the dancers whirled through the evolutions of the quadrille, the lancers and the Virginia reel. It was interesting to observe those of the "older set," who had not danced for some time, recall the intricate figures of the square dances with grace and accuracy, while the adepts at dancing among the "younger set" were frequently at fault. It was unanimously voted that the old-time dances should be revived. It has become an established custom of the Inn to have choral singing on the piazza each Sunday night. Everybody takes part. Last Sunday night Mr. Miller very generously brought his negro quartet to the Inn and gave the guests a concert, which was much enjoyed. After this concert, with Mr. Miller leading, the guests sang the hymns and songs of bygone days.

Recent Richmond arrivals at the Inn are P. P. Winston and his daughter, Miss E. W. Winston; Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Weistger, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Carter, Mrs. W. P. Stevens and son, Master Charles A. Stevens; with Mrs. Stevens as her mother, Mrs. E. L. Baugh, of Petersburg; Mrs. C. E. Lefew and Miss Lefew, Miss Hardwick, who is visiting her sister, Mrs. Hawes Coleman.

AT BLUE RIDGE SPRINGS

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Blue Ridge Springs, Va., August 19.—The past week has shown a continual round of gaiety, opening with a large party of progressive bridge whist. Seven tables were filled with merry-makers, and the scores at the conclusion of the game announced that victory, hearing the first prize, a silver decorated glass sandwich dish, had come to Mrs. F. E. Johnston, of Columbus, Miss., and Miss Perry, of Washington, D. C., won a silver picture frame, and William Byrd Henry, of New York, was consoled with a cut-glass violet-holder.

With the circle of belles and beaux of the Blue Ridge colony, and the week-end visitors from Roanoke, a german of twenty-five couples was led by S. P. Figat, with Miss Julia Todd, of Norfolk. Many beautiful figures were danced, and when "Home, Sweet Home," warned the revelers that "all things have but a time," the evening closed with the largest after-dinner supper of the season, given by Mrs. Carson and Mrs. Morgan, sisters, from Columbus, Miss., in honor of their cousin, Mrs. R. E. Johnston, of Columbus; Mrs. Sidonie Wiltz Billups, of New Orleans, and Mrs. Cornelia Branch Stone, of Texas. Seventy-five guests enjoyed the buffet luncheon of pimentos and cheese sandwiches, olives, preserved ginger, green and white minis, with champagne punch, served in the card room, which was beautifully decorated with field daisies, "queen's lace" handkerchiefs and ferns. The Italian band played the sweet old strains of sentiment and melody, during the hour of feasting and of frolic. Guests from a distance invited for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Baeton Pope, Mrs. Boyd Ayers, S. P. Figat, J. M. Horton, William J. Robertson, John C. Jamison, Alfred Preston, Roanoke, E. L. Brown, Redburg, J. R. Wicks, Jr., F. F. Rowan, Bedford City. The receiving party was Mrs. Morgan, Mrs. Carson, Mrs. Johnston, Mrs. Billups and Mrs. Stone, all handsomely gown.

Monday morning the summer "girls and boys" were made happy by a large bowling party, in which the matrons had part, given by Mrs. Stone, of Texas, to two young men, who have been untiring in pleasure-giving effort, George Wiltz Billups, of New Orleans, and William F. Seymour, of Richmond. As knick-knacks, have a lady faire, Miss Louise Morgan, of Columbus, Miss., was selected by Mrs. Stone as "maid of honor." Engraved silver cuff links were presented to each of the honor men, and Miss Morgan was given a gold enameled fur pin, as souvenir of the occasion. When the stars were counted, Miss May Sprague, of New Orleans, received the engraved silver slipper buckles for first prize, and William Paxton was first among the men and captured a silver pencil. Ice-cold punch, cheese, crackers and Nabisco wafers refreshed the players at the close of the game.

Mrs. R. E. Johns was hostess of a six-course progressive party Monday afternoon, complimentary to Mrs. Sidonie Wiltz Billups, which was perfect in arrangement and entertainment. Mrs. Billups received as guest of a honor a novelty in sterling silver pencil case, which was selected by Mrs. Sprague, of New Orleans, as "maid of honor." Mrs. W. C. C. won highest score, and received a handsome enameled fur pin and a desk calendar in wrought brass as the reward of Miss May Baker, of Norfolk, for having won second place. Mrs. Stone has the laugh-provoking "Billiken" in a silver charm for "consolation" in defeat.

A Welsh rarebit supper, given by the Blue Ridge colony on Tuesday evening, was made the occasion for a speech from Colonel George C. Cabell, of Norfolk, in which he represented the colony and presented a crystal and silver ink-well and pen-holder of unique design to Mrs. Stone, of Texas, as a token of appreciation and respect. To Mrs. Stone the surprise was complete, and she was overcome by such testimonials, as she expressed in her response.

Captain G. W. B. Hale, of Rocky Mount, who served in the Virginia Cavalry on the staff of General Jubal Early, in the Confederate Army, is here, and finds interested listeners to his memories of that glorious past. J. H. Waters and daughters, of Norfolk, are noted arrivals of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Turnbull, of Lawrenceville, are enjoying life here and drinking the magic elixir. Mr. Turnbull is a son of Congressman Turnbull, of Virginia.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry McDaniel are prominent additions to the colony from Demopolis, Ala.

Mrs. Dabney White, and Miss Lucy Morris, of Tyler, Texas, are charming recruits enlisted for an extended stay. The wheel of pleasure revolves fully and throws off more jollity than could be digested but for the Blue Ridge Spring.

fore, that the Chancellor of the Exchequer has come forward to save the country from what would be little short of a national calamity. The disappearance of breakfast would mean the disappearance of backbone.

If breakfast is a disagreeable meal (as some folks aver), then all the more reason why we should get up and face it. We are becoming altogether too soft and effeminate, shrinking from everything that is not entirely agreeable to us. Charles Lamb was largely responsible for bringing the morning meal into disrepute.

Breakfast is, before all things, a respectable meal. One cannot imagine a man or woman, who is always down punctually to breakfast, being other than a highly reputable member of society. A dinner may be frivolous, a supper may be hilarious, but a breakfast is always staid and solemn, and conducive to the building up of a sound and sensible character.

Women have tried to excuse their absence from the breakfast table on the plea that they never look their best in the early morning hours. But beauty is superfluous at breakfast, save when it manifests itself in the cunning red and white of bacon, in the delicate aroma of coffee, or the translucent amber of marmalade or honey. Our aesthetic sensibilities are not fully awake till the afternoon.

There are some who complain that their conversational powers are unsatisfactory at breakfast time. This is because they attempt too much. They try to be witty. Bona mots are not suitable for breakfast. Light and airy perillage should be reserved for a later hour in the day. Theology, philosophy, metaphysics, and occasionally politics, provide suitable material for breakfast table conversation, and if people adhere strictly to these subjects they would find little cause to complain of conversational difficulties at the first meal of the day.

BETTER THAN SPANKING

Spanking does not cure children of bad wetting. There is a constitutional cause for this trouble. Mrs. M. Summers, Box W, Notre Dame, Ind., will send free to any mother her successful home treatment, with full instructions. Send no money, but write her today if your children trouble you in this way. Directly blame the child; the chances are it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and aged people troubled with urine difficulties by day or night.
